
Television Channel for Dombivli

Posted by Samir - 2008/04/03 20:31

More than 4 lakh persons reside in Dombivli. We should have a separate & independent Television channel. Local artists & eminent persons (like members of DombivliForum) can present their programs & views through this local channel. It will be like a cultural & information centre for Dombivli. As its reach is not likely go beyond Dombivli, there is no need to ask for a nation-wide TV channel. It will be sufficient if only Dombivlikars can see that channel. This will reduce the cost of owning & operating such channel. Technologically, this project is quite feasible. All that we need is "enthusiastic Dombivlikars". That's all.

=====

Re:Television Channel for Dombivli

Posted by kaushal - 2008/04/05 06:03

Hi Samir, appreciate your feelings. In past few people have tried but have failed to find sufficient sponsors. Another problem had been creating content specific Dombivli. In coming times, things would definitely change.

At DombivliForum.com what we can offer is space for all people who want to write or share about Dombivli. We had been working in past section like "Personality of week" where we write about one prominent personality in Dombivli per week, feature them on our site. Sharing of videos, photos of Dombivli was another idea.

In case you have something to share about Dombivli or know some one who wants to, I would appreciate if you could recommend us to them. We would be glad to offer our space to them.

=====

Re:Television Channel for Dombivli

Posted by Samir - 2008/04/06 10:02

Finding sponsors should not be so difficult because cost of owning & running such channel is NOT going to be too high. The second problem of "insufficient content" should be discussed heavily with more & more Dombivlikars. A city with a population of above 4 lakh must be capable of generating plenty of content. The programmes undertaken by "DombivliForum" are really good.

=====