
Want to enter politics?

Well...no matter how much you rant about the short comings of a suburb/city/society etc...effective changes are brought only by politicians (men in power) or some saintly person...

So does anyone here have plans to enter active politics?

Kaushal you might have an opinion about it, I am sure, something like Lok-Paritran!

I know quite a people who want to get into politics.. I m not sure I want to get into politics..

I disagree with one of your point of entering politics for overcoming shortcoming in the society. Entering administrative services is the way, not politics. Politics could be one of the means.
